

ZUCOT GALLERY

100 CENTENNIAL OLYMPIC PARK DRIVE SW

ATLANTA, GA 30313

(404) 380-1040

ALICE LOCOGE

Alice LOCOGE, young painter settled in Strasbourg, attempts to emphasize the beauty and the spontaneity of human beings on a dreamlike bottom. Between realism and sublimation, halfway between inspiration and aspiration, she tries to involve strictly content and form while conjugating the possibilities of the reality. Techniques and materials which she uses to realize her works are also surprising as innovative.

Alice Locoge is undoubtedly an atypical artist stemming from some improbable mixture of vitality in any events and from a spirit completely dedicated to the creativity. Down from her 25 years, holder of a Bachelor's degree of plastic Art, she strives to unite strict content and form by using techniques and unusual and innovative materials that she integrates into her works, opening the way to a new dimension, the tactile relief.

Her "beings", symbolized, sketched characters, strangely positioned, alone or accompanied, absorbed by their reflection, deliver us them chaste nudity. The material which composes them stresses muscle structures, throw shadows, sketch of the volumes. They are the sketches of the humanity, its most profound roots. There is an indisputable maturity in the Alice Locoge's rising work. And, let us not doubt it, a promising future!