Nathalie Ramirez

Nathalie Ramirez was born in 1971 in Grenoble (France). She graduated from the School of "Beaux Arts" in Lyon (1995) and School of "Decorative Arts" in Strasbourg (1997)

Her sensitivity is not satisfied with the image captured by the lens, So beautiful it might be. Her approach leads tirelessly to try to make us perceive the "feel" of the image as much as its aesthetics.

Her series "Urban Wandering" was born from the desire to give us views of large cities she has visited. It is a reflection on the loneliness of our urban lives, about social autism but also an oneiric escape.

Combining traditional photography with digital techniques, she then adds paint to highlight the invisible links between the real and the imaginary. Our eyes are crossing the border, gleefully astray, but fail to separate the tangible from the unusual.
